On behalf of the Co-Directors, Board of Trustees, and Event Host Committee, we are pleased to announce Manhattan Institute's

SPRING BALLET GALA

Sunday, March 29th, 2009 at 4:00 P.M.

The Ailey Studios
Joan Weill Center for Dance
405 West 55th Street @9th Avenue
New York City

Please join us for a gala ballet performance by dancers courtesy of the NEW YORK CITY BALLET to benefit the clinical and educational missions of Manhattan Institute for Psychoanalysis

Savannah Lowery, Adrian Danchig-Waring, and Christian Tworzyanski, dancers courtesy of the New York City Ballet (<http://www.nycballet.com>), will perform excerpts of ballets choreographed by George Balanchine, Peter Martins, and Christopher Wheeldon. Set by Ballet Master Kathleen Tracey of the New York City Ballet, the program will include variations, pas de deux, and pas de trois that span the history of ballet from classical to contemporary.

Each excerpt will be introduced by Ms. Tracey, who will also moderate a dialogue between the dancers and the audience following the performance.

Wine and hors d'oeuvres reception

The Manhattan Institute for Psychoanalysis is dedicated to providing excellent postgraduate education in psychoanalysis and psychoanalytic psychotherapy, from a contemporary interpersonal perspective, to psychotherapists seeking advanced clinical training. The Institute offers a comprehensive referral service to the community for low fee psychotherapy and psychoanalysis, and was one of the first training institutes to offer a specialized training program and clinical service for the treatment of trauma. Manhattan Institute offers educational opportunities to the psychoanalytic community and the community at large through its Colloquium series, which provides a congenial forum for lively discussion and for the exchange of ideas.
